NutriSoil impresses F1 punters

"I am so wrapped to learn of your success tonight, from the Formula 1 on Sunday. My friends & I couldn't stop commenting on how green it looked this year compared to last year - was super brown and ugly in 2008. You made it beautiful!!" Leanne, London

BIOLOGY NEEDED!!! Rejuvenating Fire Affected Areas

After a horror Summer with fires, we have received a number of calls from farmers who lost part or all of their livelihoods to these devastating fires. The overwhelming terror of being involved in these fires is one thing to deal with, but most say they just want to re-establish and move on as quickly as possible.

Interviewing a number of experts on this topic resulted in one clear message. Get the biology back working as quickly as possible! Replanting particularly into colder burn areas was a good way to get carbon or feed for microorganisms so they could begin nutrient cycling and other essential processes. Some pastures quickly regerminated on their own after the first rains, however hotter burn areas were understandably less responsive.

Replanting with seed coated in NutriSoil is an excellent way to get plant available nutrient and a microbial protection for better germination. Foliar application of NutriSoil at 3-4 leaf stage (or when significant ground coverage is evident) will further nurture quality growth.

NutriHealth International is offering landholders whose property has been affected by the February fires a 25% discount for this year's NutriSoil orders. Please let us know when ordering if this applies to you and/or feel free to inform other landholders if this could be helpful to re-establishing their land.

Wedding Bliss

On a happier note, Justin and Rachelle were married on the 30th January on the property on a balmy 44° C afternoon.

They spent the following month on their honeymoon in Thailand and Sri Lanka. Rachelle got to introduce her new husband to her Sri Lankan family who looked after her for the 3 years she lived there previously. A 2nd 'wedding-like' celebration called a Home-coming was held for them.

Congratulations Maarten!

The amazing life of Dr Maarten Stapper was documented on the ABC's Australian Story 1st June 09. If you missed it or would like to see it again, you can go to www.abc.net.au/austory/ to see the episode "Back to Earth". Maarten has been our NutriSoil Open Day keynote speaker for the past two years inspiring a combined audience of nearly 400 farmers! We have copies of his paper Soil Fertility Management and have been privileged to have him speak on our NutriSoil DVD available on request.
